

When I Home the Machine it Only Moves

Down a Little Bit

If you try and home your machine, and you find it only moves the 3 towers down, that is because somehow the machine lost its Z height. It's most likely caused by accidentally clicking on the "Set Z=0 in the advanced configuration screen on your Orion. You'll need to connect your printer to a computer using the USB connection to reset the machine's Z max height, then we can re-calibrate the actual Z Height.
